GATHERED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

SMITH CENTER

(From the Messenger)

Will Wright pulled out for Kansas City Monday night, where he expects to spend a few days taking in the sights, after which he is figuring on going to Oklahoma for the winter.

John Musser and wife, living just north of town, departed last Friday evening for a visit to the old haunts of childhood days in northwestern Missouri. Mrs. Musser had not been back there for over twenty years and she will no doubt enjoy the trip.

J. M. Caldwell of Bellaire filed suit with Clerk of the Court Duvall, the first of the week, through his attorneys, against the Rock Island railroad, asking $2000 damages for injuries received while coming home from Topeka the first of July. He alleges in his petition that the colored porter held him in the seat while the conductor choked him and otherwise did him bodily harm. The wrangle started over a receipt that Caldwell had and which the conductor wanted.

FRANKLIN

(From the Sentinel)

J. S. Bell had the brick walls of the addition to his store all laid and the rafters in position.

Max Robinson has again gone forth seeking combat with the world, which owes him a living. He went east and wants a job on the railroad.

Doc Kelson came home a few days ago, after nearly a three years term of service for Uncle Sam in the Philippines. He was a member of the hospital corps.

Fred Maser came home Wednesday, being summoned on account of the serious illness of his mother. He had been working in a roundhouse in western Colorado.

The school board has appointed City Marshal John Davidson a special trancy officer for this district. Parents are notified that loading on the streets by small boys will not be tolerated.

LEBANON

(From the Argus)

Orlando Bussinger has 120 fine spring pigs which are doing well on alfalfa.

Some unregenerate recently stole about all the chickens Charley Alloway had.

Will Curry, whom we mentioned last week as being dangerously sick, is much better.

Spence Potter of Logan township, in company with his brother C. R., is visiting his boyhood home in New York.

The dynamo for the new light plant for the Riverton Roller Mills arrived Tuesday, but was so badly damaged that the mill company would not receive it.

On Monday Mrs. N. L. Phinney received a telegram to come to St. Joe, as her husband had been injured by the cars. Mr. Phinney had been in the employ of the Burlington railroad for nearly thirty years without serious accident. Nothing is known here of the nature or seriousness of the accident.

Elijah Eston, formerly of this place, who moved to California a few years ago, spent the fore part of the week shaking hands with old friends in this vicinity. He has been in a hospital in Kansas City for a short time.

Wednesday afternoon a team belonging to H. M. Hancock indulged in a runaway, while hitched to a buggy. The rig was overturned, throwing the proprietor out on his head. Two wheels of the buggy broken was about all the damage done.

SUPERIOR

(From the Express)

The Superior Cattle Co. has received several cars of feeders for its yards here this winter.

There are a few men in and around this town who should be arrested for cruelty to their horses.

We have it on good authority that a new lumber yard will be opened up in Superior in the spring.

Misses Margaret and Theresa Henningsen left Sunday for Washington, D. C., where they will attend college.

W. J. Humphreys was in Saturday with some fine specimens of silver prunes which he brought back from Idaho when he was on his western trip. He says Washington, Oregon and Idaho are fine states for climate and fruit, but do not look good to a Nebraska farmer as a place to farm.

Archer Bishop, who has been working with a bridge company out near Glenwood Springs, Col., had the misfortune to be badly injured recently by a thirty pound rock that fell and hit him a glancing blow on the head, fracturing his skull. He was taken to a hospital, and at last accounts was resting easy.
